

This assignment was to design a webpage similar to other websites we visit regularly that talks about the history about a certain restraint. We used the classes and functionality of bootstrap to make the website look as professional as possible, in addition to knowing how to specifically alter a certain aspect of the design with relative ease.